DN AGRAR - Monthly Evolution of the Quantity of Milk Delivered in 2022, 2023 (12 months, liters)

Summary 2023 and Predictions for 2024

In an interview at Forbes Romania, Peter de Boer, Member of the Board of Directors and IR Manager, emphasized that 2023 was defined by "growth" for DN AGRAR. This growth was achieved through the adoption of sustainable practices and modern technologies, to ensure both the quality and sustainability of business development.

 2023 is the year in which we continued the announced investment projects for the modernization, digitization and integration of companies into the group.

 2023 was not without challenges. Fluctuations in milk prices and input-related challenges required strategic measures, such as reducing fixed costs and expanding our cow base. However, with determination and smart investments, we experienced a year marked by growth and consolidation.

 In the medium term, we will build a new farm in Straja, a project estimated to take around 3 years, but which will become partially operational starting 2024. The Straja project involves approximately 5,000 cattle, including 3,600 milking cows and young cattle.

 We aim to have milk production at the Straja farm by July 2024, starting with 400 milking cows and reaching approximately 800 milking cows, by the end of the year.

 We will continue with digitization projects, installing solar panels on all farms and constructing a compost factory.
